FORTY-FIFTH CONGRESS.
Further Extension of the Session--The Conference Committee Agree on all the Provisions of the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill--Numerous Confirmations--1 O'clock fixed for Adjournment.

by Telegraph to the News.

WASHINGTON, June 18.--The Senate proceeded with the consideration of Executive business immediately after the reading of the journal.

The Conference Committee on the sundry civil bill was in session all night until 6 o'clock this morning, when it took a recess of a few hours, after reaching agreement on about one-third the items in controversy. Now, (12.30 p.m.) continuing their labors, the outlook for complete agreement in time to admit the final adjournment of both Houses this evening, is considered very uncertain.

The Senate confirmed the nominations of W. S. Groesbeck and Francis A. Walker as United States Commissioners to the International Monetary Conference, and rejected the nomination of Reuben E. Fenton as such Commissioner, and also confirmed the nomination of S. L. Phelps and Josiah Dent as Commissioners of the District of Columbia.

Samuel F. Reid, nominated as United States Marshal for the Southern District of Alabama, was rejected by the Senate to-day by a vote of 22 ayes to 27 nays.

The Senate passed the bill to remit the political disabilities of Washington Gwinnett, of Alabama.

The conference report relative to the elections in West Virginia and North Carolina, and a United States Senator in New Hampshire, was agreed to. As agreed upon in conference the bill provides for the election of Representatives to the 46th Congress from West Virginia and North Carolina.

The Senate amendment declaring that the present Legislature of New Hampshire may elect a United States Senator for the term commencing March 4th, 1879, was disagreed to. The election of Representatives in Congress under this law will be held in West Virginia on the 2d Tuesday in October, and in North Carolina on the 2d Tuesday in November.

The Senate amendment declaring that the House bill for the relief of the families of those who perished on the United States dredge boat McAllister, at the mouth of the Mississippi river, was passed.

The House bill authorizing the payment of Customs duties in legal tender notes was read by the title, after which several Senators objected to the second reading of the bill, and this prevented its further consideration to-day.

The bill appropriating $7,000 to construct a road from Vicksburg, Miss., to the National Cemetery, passed.

Both Houses took a recess from late this afternoon until 8 p.m.

The Conference Committee on the sundry civil bill reached an agreement at 8 o'clock this evening. This report will undoubtedly be adopted by both Houses, but in order to allow time for the enrollment of the bills, &c., the session will have to be extended some hours, probably until midnight.

House--In the House a motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill to substitute necessary notes for National Bank notes, was defeated by 109 to 114.

A motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill for the payment of Customs duties in legal tender notes after October, 1878, was agreed to.

The bill making all pensions on account dead words or disease in the service to take effect on the date of death or discharge, and for payment of arrears on that principle, was passed.

The Senate resolution extending the time for the final adjournment until 10 p.m. to day, was concurred in.

The report of the Committee on the sundry civil bill, announcing a disagreement, was agreed to, and a new committee ordered.

A motion to suspend the rules and pass the pro rata Pacific Railroad bill, was defeated.

EVENING SESSION.

Upon the re-assembling of the Senate at 8 o'clock, p.m., Mr. Allison from the Select Committee to inquire into the alleged connection of Hon. Sandy Matthews with the frauds in Louisiana during the course of the Presidential vote, submitted a resolution authorizing the Committee, in exercising the power heretofore granted to sit during the recess, to hold its session at such place or places as it shall deem most convenient for the purposes of the investigation. Agreed to.

The House resumed its session at 8 o'clock, p.m.; previous to which time it was rumored that the Conference Committee on the Sundry Civil Service Appropriation Bill had compromised upon a point of disagreement, as the Speaker entered the hall from the Senate side, he confirmed the rumor that the Committee had agreed. The galleries were crowded, but the attendance of members was rather slim; many having already left the city.

On June 19, moved to suspend the rules and pass the bill (reported by Waddell, of North Carolina, Chairman of the Postoffice Committee,) to fix the pay of letter carriers. Agreed to; yeas, 119; nays, 54. (The resolution was had up with applause.) The bill provides that in all cities containing a population of 75,000 or over, there shall be two classes of letter-carriers. The first class to have a salary of $1,000, and the second class a salary of $800; that in cities of less than 75,000, there shall be but one class of letter-carriers whose salary shall be $850. That a third class may be established on application of postmaster, to be called auxiliary letter-carriers, and to receive $400 a year; and that the letter-carrier system may be established in cities of twenty thousand inhabitants.

Conger moved to suspend the rules and pass the joint resolution proposing Constitutional amendments forever prohibiting payment of any claim for property taken, used, injured or destroyed by United States troops during the late war, unless the owners were loyal to the Government, and gave neither aid nor encouragement to the enemy. Agreed to; yeas, 144; nays, 61.

At 9 o'clock a message was received from the Senate stating that the body had adopted a resolution for the further extension of the session to 1 o'clock on Thursday, and it was concurred in.

THE INDIAN OUTBREAK.

By Telegraph to the News.

NEW YORK, June 19.--A special from Omaha says: General Crook has left for Chicago to consult Sheridan on the Sioux trouble. Crook considers the situation as growing more serious every day. He has been obliged to use 20 companies to protect the Black Hills and Fort McKinney regions, stripping the department of all available men.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.--A Boise City despatch says: Capt. Berardi and Capt. Whipple effected a junction 3 miles above Owyhee river, Gen. Howard is supposed to be 25 miles in advance. A despatch received here, dated at Baker City, Oregon, June 17, says: "The hostiles raided Burke river yesterday and stole 22 horses and probably did other mischief. Capt. Bandier, with a company of cavalry, left early this morning for Old's Ferry, on Snake river.

THE EUROPEAN CONGRESS

By Cable to the News.

VIENNA, June 19.--It is stated that England and Austria had concluded a promise to support each other at the Congress. The publication of the Anglo-Russian agreement consequently astonished the Austrian government. Count Andrasdy, apparently, has been since assured, as we asserted, that he and Lord Beaconsfield hold identical views.

LONDON, June 19.--The Berlin correspondent of the Manchester Guardian telegraphs that he is authorized to contradict the report set afoot on Tuesday last that the Turkish Plenipotentiaries had been instructed to withdraw from the Congress, and declare that Turkey preferred to abide by the terms of the treaty of San Stefano, if the Congress voted to grant autonomy to Epius, Thessaly, Bosnia and Herzegovina.

The illusion that the Berlin Congress would finish its work in ten days gives place to the conviction that it will last many weeks. The Congress meets at 2 o'clock to-day, and it is expected that Bulgaria will be the subject for consideration. However, the present question may be of important consequences, nothing so far from suggesting an unfavorable issue, only show that the proposed reorganization of Bulgaria. The question is simply whether Europe or Russia shall exercise a preponderant influence in European Turkey. The Congress could not deal hastily or rapidly with a question so important and so complex. Its delays and frequent adjournments, so far from suggesting an unfavorable issue, only show that the proposed reorganization of Bulgaria. DAILY shipments of peaches from the line of the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad are becoming quite heavy, and before the end of the week will reach a thousand and crates per day.

SOUTHERN travel is beginning to find its way over the lines of the Seaboard, Raleigh and Gaston and Raleigh and Augusta Air-Line Railroads. Passengers from Florida, and to and from Charleston are now daily passing over these lines.

A CORRESPONDENT nominates Len H. Adams, a merchant in the city, and a farmer in the county for the House of Representatives. Mr. Adams is a substantial, successful man, and will guard any interest entrusted to him as he would his own.

A WAKE county correspondent suggests, in view of reported divisions in the county, respecting the preferences of the people as between Governor Vance and Senator Merrimon, that the sense of the Convention be taken next Saturday, by townships, and that the legislative ticket be apportioned accordingly. The proposition seems a fair one, if the true sense of the people can be ascertained, and most assuredly if, in this manner, and by no other means, can the county be rescued from the Republicans, the plan ought to be adopted. The simple requirement that Democratic members of the Legislature shall stand by the action of the caucus, should, in ordinary cases, be sufficient for the satisfaction of any aspirant or his friends; but it is said that there exists in this county peculiar conditions, and that a ticket composed wholly of the friends of either, could not be elected.

The Colored Solicitor.
For the nomination of a colored man to be Solicitor, at Tarboro, on Tuesday, it turns out that the colored people were not responsible. The accomplishment of the feat belongs almost solely and exclusively to a very select set of white men.

It required seven votes to nominate, and of these T. F. Lee, and M. B. Barber, of Wake; A. McCabe, of Edgecombe, and R. J. Lewis, of Halifax, all white men, voted for John H. Collins, the negro. Of course it was a combination, and the hand of the Harris is seen in it. Collins is to be the Solicitor in name, Logan Harris, in fact. Thus betaking himself behind a negro, Mr. Harris hopes to get his hand back into the public crib, from which the last Legislature forced him to withdraw it; and he is not over nice about it.

The News is glad to be able to say that it was not the colored people who thus forced an obnoxious nomination upon the public. Of the eight colored men in the Convention, Collins had the countenance and support of but three. One of these was under the control and influence of the Harris-Lee combination; one was a county man of the nominee, and controlled by Lewis, who is seeking a renomination as Register of Deeds at the hands of the colored people of Halifax; and the other was under the control of Mabson, of Edgecombe, who is after the nomination for Congress in that heavy colored district.

True and False Experts.
With a great deal of pleasure have been read the very able paper on the above subject, delivered by Dr. Eugene Griscom before the Association of American Superintendents, at Washington City, in May last.

This pamphlet should be in the hands of every member of the legal profession. Dr. Griscom has reviewed several of the most important cases on record where the plea of insanity has been relied on as a defense, and has shown, very conclusively, that either from the ignorance or corruption of the expert, or from the scanty means afforded him by the courts to examine into the facts of the case, many an innocent man in the eye of the law—a non compos mentis—has been executed.

He has portrayed in most glowing colors the career of the professional expert, who makes it a business for the love of gold, to be examined in every case of insanity, and who is ready to give his opinion in favor of that side who pays him the largest fee! What vituperation is too severe for such a trafficker in human misery who sells his opinions for gold?

It is very evident, after perusing this paper, that some further legislation is necessary on this important subject, and Dr. Griscom suggests that the plan in force in France and Germany should be adopted here. Let our Legislature, at its next session, pass an act appointing a committee of three physicians, who have made insanity a study, and allow this committee to examine all the facts and evidence of the case in the presence of a Judge, and let them make their report to the court in writing, when the plea of insanity is relied on, and in this way justice will be done both to the State and the defendant.

The Executive Letter Books of North Carolina.

The News deems it not improper to give to the people of North Carolina an official correspondence which lately passed between the Governor of this State and the Secretary of War of the United States.

When the city of Raleigh fell into the hands of the Federal soldiers, under that magnificent marauder, the spoiling Sherman, the State House was pillaged, the offices and libraries plundered, and among the trophies of war secured by the valor of a victorious army revelling in the halls of a prostrate State, the letter books of the Executive office, covering the entire period of the war, were taken and carried to Washington, where, as the Secretary of War says they are held by the United States "as property captured in war."

Immediately succeeding the war these letter books became of very great importance to the State and to individuals, as records of many facts necessary to be produced in the restoration of government, and the re-establishment of business among the people of North Carolina. They were needed in the courts, by individuals settling estates, by corporations in the re-adjustment of their affairs, and in one instance the interest of the State in important lines of railway were involved, and her property therein thought to be dependent on the production of evidence recorded in the captured letter books of the Governor's office.

Repeated application was made for the books or access to them, but every such request met with abrupt and insolent refusal, and to this day the sovereign State of North Carolina is denied even the poor privilege of taking copies of the records of her government, covering a period in history the most important in her existence as a State. The pages of the past will be searched in vain for a parallel piece of infamy and malevolence with this act of mock-imperialism.

The Legislature at its last session adopted a resolution instructing the Governor to make application to the claims against the government. That is a mere evasion, for if the books were in the State House at Raleigh, they would be at all times accessible to any officer or agent of the general government. Besides, in so far as records therein relate to any circumstance or transaction out of which may arise claims against the government, these records have been all transcribed and printed for use in the Departments at Secretary of War for the return of the letter books, or for properly authenticated copies of their contents, that the archives of the State from its very foundation might be preserved unbroken. To the courteous and becoming communication of the Governor, as printed elsewhere, the reader has the insulting reply of an insolent creature of a national administration which is the corrupt product of a loathsome combination of scoundrels and scapewowers.

The pretexts upon which Hayes' man McCrary bases his refusal to comply with the resolutions of request made to him by the Legislature are no more frivolous than false. He cannot accede to the request for surrender of the originals, for fear they may at some time be wanted for evidence in resisting Washington, copies of which have been seen in Raleigh.

In view of that fact, and the further circumstance that Judge Settle paraded certified extracts from these letter books throughout the State in the campaign of 1876, the apprehension expressed that there may be in the books State secrets which ought not to be made public, is the merest subterfuge of a very mean man.

But there are matters contained in those letter books which that class of patriots to which McCrary belongs does not desire made public, not however out of regard for the good of the government, or that such publication would endanger the public safety. Contents of those letter books would show that Governor Vance sought to ameliorate the condition of the Federal soldiers held in prison at Salisbury; that he communicated his desire to the United States authorities at Washington; proffering, in the name of the State of North Carolina, to undertake to feed, clothe and properly care for those prisoners, if the United States would do likewise by the Southerners held in Northern prisons; and that the offer was spurned in a spirit which showed that Northern patriots of the McCrary kidney had no heart or care for any soldier languishing in a Southern prison, and sooner than forego the opportunity of torturing the Southerners in their hands, the last Northern patriot who had passed the line of James River might famish and die amid all the horrors of an over-crowded war prison. It is the fear of the McCrary set of bloody shirt politicians that these facts may reach the eyes of those Federal soldiers and their friends whose minds they have been accustomed to inflame at the recital of tales of Salisbury and Andersonville, which inspires the apprehension that there may be records in the books that "should not be made public."

Governor Vance is to be thanked for his rebuking reply to this presumptuous person who writes himself Secretary of War, but the matter must not be permitted to rest here. North Carolina is a sovereign State of this Union, or she is nothing, and she is entitled to her records, full and unmitigated, and she must have them, Mr. Secretary McCrary to the contrary, notwithstanding.

It is very evident, after perusing this paper, that some further legislation is necessary on this important subject, and Dr. Griscom suggests that the plan in force in France and Germany should be adopted here. Let our Legislature, at its next session, pass an act appointing a committee of three physicians, who have made insanity a study, and allow this committee to examine all the facts and evidence of the case in the presence of a Judge, and let them make their report to the court in writing, when the plea of insanity is relied on, and in this way justice will be done both to the State and the defendant.
